End of KS1	Expected Standard	Greater Depth
Reading	77%	44 %
Writing	66 %	11 %
Maths	77%	22%

Our end of KS2 results the percentage of children meeting the expected standard at the end of year six even with a challenging assessment of the new curriculum, with results close to National figures in some areas, please note that with only 10 children in a cohort mean statistics and results are not as significant as value added progress.

Floor standards

The updated accountability guidance defines the much anticipated thresholds for 'sufficient progress' as follows:

	Nationally	School	statistical significance
Reading:	tbc	-2.3	sig – average progress
Writing:	tbc	7.04	sig + well above average
Maths:	tbc	-0.7	none average progress

If 65% or more pupils achieved the expected standard in reading, writing and maths then these sufficient progress thresholds do not come into play. That school is above floor. If fewer than 65% of pupils achieved the expected standard in reading, writing and maths then the school's progress scores will be compared against these thresholds. In this situation, the school needs to match or exceed all thresholds to be in the safe zone. However, there are certain circumstances where floor standards do not apply:

- there are fewer than 11 eligible pupils at KS2
- fewer than 50% of pupils have KS1 assessments that can be used to establish prior attainment groupings
- There is insufficient KS2 attainment information because there are fewer than 6 pupils with results in a particular subject.

End of KS2	% of children	Meeting the Expected Standard	National	Average standard score	National

The expectations have been raised considerably, including the difficulty and accessibility of the tests. These results are a testament to our fantastic staff and volunteers, hardworking children and extremely supportive parents. Thank you. We will continue to navigate the ever changing and challenging curriculum and statutory testing in order to help our pupils shine; however our children are much more than statistics and we will continue to provide them with enriching opportunities so that they continue to enjoy excellent provision.
